ADMINISTRATION

SUPERINTENDENTS MESSAGE

This regular course of action is again here in a greater avenue of Daedalian conception. The pleasure is tremendous in lending myself to this small portion of this year's annual. At no other time could I be with this message in this year's annual as much as I am at this moment. This has been brought about by the present senior class of 1967. They have learned a great deal throughout the year. They will in my opinion try to work towards occupational levels of high specialization. The great respect by the faculty, staff, Board of Education, and the community for their school has been above reproach. In the elementary school and upper grade levels the best of thinking by these students towards the newer innovations has brought to us a desirable status in education. I am proud to be associated with the Seibert Public Schools. The gaining of accreditation to this community has meant a great deal to me. I hope that each and every patron feels as I do in this great reward. Many ends are still left to be tied. I firmly believe that the square knotting of these ends will complete the cycle. Congratulations to you the seniors of SHS and future graduating classes.

Class History

In September of 1956, ten shy first graders started the long upward struggle for their diplomas. They were: Jim Gorton, Beverly Hase, Dick Lobmeyer, Barbara O'Neill, Ernest Pelser, Ron Phillips, Darice Pitman, Dean Short, Linda Ward, and Eddie Zrubek.

We lost and gained many members throughout grade school and junior high. The ladder was becoming increasingly harder to climb, but with only four more rungs of the ladder of education left to climb, we knew we must go onward and upward. The eighth grade trip and graduation were highlights of these years.

In September of 1963, ten green frosh started the first of four remaining rungs by entering into high school with Jim Gorton, Ron Phillips, Jerry Millsaps, Dean Short, Linda Kemp, Linda Johnston, Beverly Hase, Cheryl Conarty, Barbara O'Neill, Darice Pitman, and our sponsor, Mr. Lindgren. This year we received our school sweaters.

Still three steps from the top, we started our sophomore year. Again our sponsor was Mr. Lindgren and we worked fast and furious to complete our float in time. Our "Little Old Lady from Pasadena" won first prize.

Our Junior year, Mr. Arnold became our sponsor. Our float "Rapsody in Blue" won second. We all enjoyed working on our class play "They Went That-A-Way." Our directors were Mrs. Eastin and Miss Reininger. We honored the Seniors of '66' with a banquet and record hop. This year found us beaming with pride over our new class rings. Another highlight was the "Sno-Ball" presented by the Student Council.

One final step was left for the ten Seniors to take. This was our most trying year but also our most enjoyable. With the theme of T.V. Commercials we chose "With a Right Guard and Tackle, It's no Secret, We'll Score!" for our theme and won second prize. We presented our play "Nuts and Bolts" directed by Mrs. Taton. We chose the orchid for our class flower, "A Successful Tomorrow Begins Today" was our class motto, and silver and lavender were the choices for class colors. Our sponsor, Mr. Lorance, and the "Class of '67'" served concessions during the basketball tournament at Seibert. We were guests at the Alumni Banquet and the HDC honored us with a brunch. We earned enough money from class projects and concessions to take a 2-week trip to Talahasse, Florida.

Baccalaureate services were held on May 21, 1967, at the E.U.B. Church. On May 24, 1967, the Seniors began the processional to the familiar tune of "Pomp and Circumstance." With misty eyes and shaking knees, we received our reward for our twelve years of hard work; our diplomas.

Our sincere thanks goes to each and every one who has helped make our education possible. We will always hold our High-School memories closest to our hearts, and we will never forget good ole' S.H.S.

Class Prophecy

By Darice Pitman

Hi fans!!!! This is the spirit of S.H.S. speaking to you. I'm that little red and white bulldog that you see running around at S.H.S. I'm Seibert's mascot and good-luck charm.

Just last week I decided to drive my rocket-roadster on a cross-country trip, because planes give me a sense of insecurity. Who knows when you might run into a battle between Snoopy and the Red Baron. About half-way to my destination I noticed I was running out of gasoline. I stopped at a gas station and discovered that Dean Short was the owner and operator. He said he'd failed as an astronaut and was now a gasoline jerk. He told me to come behind to his house and meet his wife and triplets. We visited for awhile, then I decided I really must be going.

Everything went quite smoothly until I reached Tallahasse, Florida. In the road ahead I could see a girl waving her arms for me to stop. It turned out to be Linda Johnston. I asked her what she was doing as I helped her put her bundles in the trunk of my car. She said she was headed for "Schneider Swamp". She also explained that after the senior sneak she decided she liked Florida too well to go back to dusty ole Colorado. She flunked out of college because she spent too much time in the sun and swimming. When I asked her what she did for a living she explained that she did some scuba-diving, capturing crocodiles and selling their skins. After leaving her at the swamp I continued on my drive.

It was almost suppertime and I was getting very hungry. I stopped at a very exclusive nightclub and found no empty tables. I noticed a young lady sitting by herself, so I asked her if I could join her. This charming young lady turned out to be Linda Kemp. She looked rather depressed so I invited her to cry on my shoulder. It was indeedy very sad. She explained that she was a lifegard at Y.M.C.A., and that today the club's biggest wolf was swimming around trying to get her attention. He yelled at her in his most charming way that he was drowning and that she should rescue him from the big bad water. She decided he was just faking, and besides. . .who would save her from him? So she just ignored him. The camp counselor witnessed all of this and quickly fired her.

After supper I began looking for a night's lodging. I saw a glittering sign which said 'Rest In Peace. I started inside and noticed a most unattractive sign which said, 'No dogs allowed'. It looked like I was going to spend the night in my roadster. Discouraged, I turned and walked away. Suddenly I felt a tug on my collar. It was the former Beverly Hase inviting me to spend the night. She and I chatted for several hours until her husband came home, and she left to fix his supper.

My trip was scheduled to last for three more days. In spite of meeting old friends, I became quite discouraged. I wanted companionship. Beverly gave me the address of a kennel, "The Doggery", and it was well worth the extra miles. As soon as I drove up, two eager, ambitious, handsome young men came rushing out to my car. I recognized them as Jerry Millsap and Ron Phillips. I explained I needed a mate-preferably of the female species. They took down all sorts of information. Then we went to the home of the former Cheryl Conarty, who was busy hanging out diapers, and warming baby bottles. She took our information and ran it through a big machine with all sorts of noises and colored lights. Soon Cheryl handed us the results from the IBM Computer and we went to the kennels. They soon found the perfect mate for me. WOW!! What a female!!! I knew living in the dog house would be fun if she was there. Her name was Minerva.

Barbara O'Neill was busy cleaning dog pens. Her job was styling the dog's hair. This wasn't exactly what she had in mind when she went to beauty college, but she did enjoy making works of art from long hair, short hair, curly hair, frizy hair, and straight hair. She also toenails and whiskers.

Since dogs don't wear rings, I decided to buy Minerva a diamond collar to show we were officially married. I stopped at the Department store and I recognized one of the clerks as Darice Pitman. She said her husband owned the store. She told me that she sorted jewelry, files, money, and a little bit of everything including shirts and diapers for her two little boys.

The trip was drawing to a close, and a good thing because Minerva was becoming quite nervous meeting all of my friends, and she was homesick for her friends at the kennel. I decided she should visit a doctor. It turned out to be none other than James Gorton, M.D. He thought that a doctor's degree in college meant that you were officially a medical doctor. Poor Minerva, she was almost in hysterics!!!!!!

Last Will and Testament

We, the Senior Class of 1967, will the Concession keys to the Junior Class in hopes they can keep them better than we did. Also, we will the privacy of the concession stands in hopes they don't get caught as much as we did.

I, Dean Short, will my quietness to Kelly Burr.

I, Jerry Millsap, will my ability to get out of class to anyone who wants it. Also my ability to keep the concession keys away from the girls to anyone who is sneaky enough to get away with it.

I, Jim Gorton, will my contact lenses to Steve Lorance. Also my short hair to Roger McCaffrey.

I, Ron Phillips, will my bomb to Shorty. Also my quietness in class to Mickey Livingston.

I, Linda Kemp, will my ability to be late or skip Study Hall to anybody who thinks it sounds like fun.

I, Linda Johnston, will my ability to ride the school bus to Kelly Burr and my height to Mary Ann Turner.

I, Darice Pitman, will my ability to get letters everyday to Maxine Hill and the honor of being chosen Homecoming Queen to Margaret Bowser.

I, Cheryl Conarty, will my ability to pass algebra to my sister Marlis. I also will my trips to Stratton to Meredith Murphy in hopes she has as much fun as I did.

I, Beverly Hase, will my ability to get along with other boys to anyone who wants it or needs it, and my height to my little brother, Ronnie.

I, Barbara O'Neill, will my five years of cheerleading to anyone peppy enough to take it and also my ole' blue Chevy to Shorty. Hope you have as much fun as I did.

Senior Trip

The Seibert High School Senior Class and Sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lorance, left Seibert, Colo., on May 5, 1967, bound for Florida. We chose as our slogan "Florida or Bust!" On our trip we passed through ten states: Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida, Georgia, and Arkansas. We visited the ex-governor of Alabama, George Wallace, and the capital of Florida, where we met Florida's Sec. of State, Tom Adams. We toured the site of the Battle of Vicksburg and many other interesting sites. We returned home May 14 after a very exciting and tiring trip. Our slogan now: "Busted By Gosh!"

Sing Along

School Song

To Seibert High We Pledge Fidelity,
To Seibert High We Bring Home Victory.
So Cheer, Cheer for Seibert High.
Rah, Rah, for Seibert High.
We Think Our School Is Grand,
So We Will Fight On for the Red and White,
and Keep Our Honors Bright,
We'll Raise Our Colors to the Sky,
Seibert High.
